DES MOINES OFFICE

With more than 20 years of experience in public accounting, Cindy Shannon leads the accounting department. She prepares all financial reports and budgets for the firm.

Before coming to Nyemaster, Cindy performed company audits following corporate and governmental requirements. She applies the same principles to her work as director of finance. "Strong financial oversight is important to the success of any business, ensuring accuracy, transparency, and accountability for company resources," she says. "Clients entrust us with their funds held in trust, and my responsibilities include the oversight of those funds and ensuring compliance is followed in accordance with all requirements and regulations."

Her previous experience in public accounting provides a background in strong oversight and compliance. Both are important when managing the accounting department at a large firm.
